CHURCH BASKET BALL LEAGUE

Logan, Ogden, Provo and Salt Lake Enter Teams.

MAKE STRONG COMBINATION

DELEGATES MEET AND ORGAN-IZE AT L. D. S. U. YESTERDAY.

The State Basket Ball league was or ganized yesterday afternoon. Repre sentatives of the four leading Latter day Saints schools of the state met in this city and organized a four-team league, to be known as the Church League of Utah. Those present were H. C. Hicks of the L. D. S. U., A. Kemr of the B. Y. C. of Logan, L. Dorrity of the B. Y. A. of Provo and Alfred Nelson of the W. S. A. of Ogden.

The officers of the new association are a president and secretary, Freeman Bassett of the L. D. S. U. being chosen for the former position, and Alfred Nelson of the W. S. A. for the position of secretary. The teams will play a series of twelve games for the state championship, which include three games in each of the towns. Special rates were granted the league on the railroads and an admission will be charged to see the games, from which it is thought enough money will be received to pay all the traveling expenses of the teams.

This is the first time in the history of basket ball in the west that a state league has ever been attempted, but the promoters think there will be little the promoters think there will be little trouble in playing the season throught on account of the popularity of the sport. This is especially true of Logan and Provo, the two smaller towns in the league. In both these places the games draw a large following. In all probability a series of three games will be arranged between the leaders in the state league and the winner of the present city league, which will settle beyond the question of a doubt the title of state champions.

lenge. The members of the national guard have three indoor baseball teams fully organized, and are out with a challenge to meet any teams in the city. The teams are formed among the members of the battery, signal corps and com-pany H. Several practice games have been played in the armory the past week, and as a result the sport is now booming among the guard members.

HOUSEMAN ON MUNROE ELLIOTT TAKES LISSAK PLENTY OF CHALLENGES

Tells About Man Who Made a Reputation off Jeffries.

Probably there has never been a man thrust into prominence in the pugilistic world about whom so much has been written and said as about Jack Munroe, the Butte miner. The great part of the stuff printed, which is probably believed by many, is mere trash and it will be some time before the public in general learns the true facts about this latest aspirant for pugilistic honors. Lou Houseman, sporting editor of the Chicago Inter Ocean, and without doubt one of the recognized authorities on the ring, has sized up the situation just about right, and has the following to save. just about right, and has the following

"The cold truth remains that all the redit that accrues to Munroe—and it is his—lies in his sticking out the four rounds of a handicap match and once bringing the champion to his knees. Had there been a decision rendered, even though on points only, it must have gone to Jeffries. But Jeffries agreed to stop Munroe and failed, and it was this failure which was the making of Munroe. I do not want to detract any from the glory of the Butte miner, but it does look as though his claim to greatness is built upon a very flimsy foundation. As well call a sell. flimsy foundation. As well call a sell-ing plater a champion, simply because it boasts a stake horse which is giving away a ton of weight. It is another case of public fickleness, a fickleness developed and fostered by fulsome press stuff. While Munroe was in Chican be accomblished by a weil regulated college in athletics.

The feature was the report of the financial secretary, William R. Lloyd, showing the receipts for the football season just passed. Simply as a monetary proposition, football is a bonanza. And championship football is a bonanza. The receipts for the games of the recent season were $22,550.72. The expenses were $5,788.47. Of the big surplus there has been placed in the hands of Professor Pattengill, as trustee, the sum of $15,000 a week for his man. Such is greatness, to be devoted to the improvement of Ferry field. Following is the complete report: and a guilible press.

"Jack Munroe is making a fool of himself. His ultimatum that Jeffries first meet "Mexican" Pete Everett before he (Munroe) will accord him any attention, is imbecilic. Munroe is a attention, is imbeellic. Munroe is a victim of circumstances, and profits wholly by reason of having staid up on his pins for four rounds before the champion. This, too, in a handleap match, wherein Jeffries agreed to stop Munroe in four rounds and failed. In a community less given to fight idolates that ours, the facts in the case a community less given to fight idolatry than ours, the facts in the case would have been printed and then the affair would have been done with. But here the papers of the country are baying heavy telegraph toils on what Munroe says and does. The falling out between Clark Ball and Fitzsimmons belong the thing along too [201] imbetween Clark Ball and Fitzsimmons helped the thing along, too. Ball immediately took up the miner, and is working him, and, incidentally, the papers of the country, against the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons alliance. It is Ball who is bellowing "whip Everett first." And, pray, who is Everett? Either Root, Gardner or Ryan can whip the fellow and give away tons of weight to him. He has never figured seriously in matters of the ring, confining his operations mostly to Cripple Creek and other places of high altitude, and then only with poor showings."

The ball is the invention of an Akron rubber worker, who is also an enthusiastic bowler, and the results he has obtained from it have greatly pleased him. Two balls were turned out by him two months ago and placed on one of the alleys for a thorough trying out. They weigh eighteen pounds and one of the alleys for a therough trying out. They were sent away to a good start and F. W. Brode and The Fretter, the latter ridder by Shaw, rushed to the front, with Autolight next. That was the order at the quarter, and there was no material change when the half was reached. At the three-quarter pole Elliott assumed the lead, followed by Durazzo, with F. W. Brode, Lord Badge and The Fretter close up. In the stretch Lord Badge forged to the front, but Burns was hard at work on Elliott and the son of Racine responding gamely, won by a head. Lord Badge beat Durazzo a length for the place. Corrigin made a disappointing showing, due evidently to the effects of the collision in which he figured earlier in the week.

GREATEST AUDIENCE IN ITS HISTORY FILLS THEATRE TO SEE "SAPHO"

The biggest audience that has ever assembled in the Salt Lake theatre when the price of admission was as high as a dollar saw Florence Roberts and her splendid company present "Sapho" last right. Manager Pyper, seeing that his regular force would be swamped, sent to police headquarters for a detail of policemen. Four officers in uniform responded and it required their most strenuous efforts to preserve anything that resembled order. A little later Mr. Pyper called on Sheriff Emery, who placed ten special deputies at his disposal.

At 7.20 o'clock every inch of standing room had been sold, not only on the backnies and the galleries. The orchestra was thrust under the stage and still a mob outside clamored for admission. When the curtain went up at 8:20, it was estimated that not far from a thousand people had been turned away.

The crowd, rather than the play and the players, was the attraction. People were anywhere, everywhere. They stood in rows ten deep, they hung over the backs of seats, they trod on one another's toes, but they were all as good humored as great crowds in this country are the stage and still at the crowd in the seating capacity of the Theatre is a little less than 1,500, but there were more
